

Armonia Indigenous Mexican Scholars

First day of internship at Mexico's General Hospital

Amadeo is studying a Social Work degree at the National Polytechnic Institute, and he is doing his internship at Mexico's General Hospital, in the transplant area. He is writing socioeconomic studies for the users, as well as sending them to other institutions when necessary.

Amadeo "This has been a very adequate experience for me, because the theory I learned has been taken to the field, in the real world. This gives room for being sensitive, and to remember that we are human beings with feelings, and not just students."

We would like to thank all of you sharing your love and resources!

Armonia

together, transforming poverty into life...

/armoniamexico

/mxarmonia

/mxarmonia

www.armoniamx.org